"I was never the sort of person who, when I was two years old, was dreaming of chalkboards."

"Being a female mathematician you are very often the strong minority in a room. The other side of that is that you can have a very large impact just by being in a room. So if I go to a seminar and me being there means some student is not the only woman in the room, that makes a big difference for her."

"There's this wonderful thing when you solve a problem and you didn't understand it one moment and then suddenly it was all so brilliantly clear to you the next moment."
